Rana Daggubati in 'Parasakthi'; Sivakarthikeyan gives a hint

Kollywood star Sivakarthikeyan continues to surprise audiences by experimenting with diverse genres. From lighthearted entertainers like Don and Doctor to the action-packed Maaveeran, the actor has carved a distinct space in Tamil cinema. His performance in Amaran not only won critical acclaim but also earned him the SIIMA 2025 Best Actor (Tamil) award, cementing his reputation as a national-level performer.

Currently, Sivakarthikeyan is enjoying the success of his action drama Madharaasi, directed by A.R. Murugadoss. Meanwhile, all eyes are on his upcoming project Parasakthi, helmed by Sudha Kongara. The film has already sparked tremendous buzz due to its intriguing backdrop, revolving around the historic Anti-Hindi agitations in Tamil Nadu during 1965.

Adding to the excitement, speculation has been rife about Rana Daggubati's involvement in the film. Fueling the rumors further, Sivakarthikeyan, while speaking at the SIIMA function, confirmed Rana's participation in one of his upcoming projects—though he refrained from naming the film. Faria Abdullah redefines elegance with fierce maroon saree look Actress Faria Abdullah has once again set fashion goals with her latest photoshoot, where she transforms a timeless saree into a statement of raw power and grace. Draped in a maroon silk saree embellished with delicate golden motifs, Faria blends tradition with a daring modern edge.

The look is elevated by heavy gold jewelry—an ornate choker, layered long chains, striking jhumkas, and a bold nath that sharpens her features. Each piece carries weight yet seamlessly complements the ensemble. It is not just an accessory play but an assertion of strength, where fabric and metal together exude dominance.

Her saree drape is kept minimal, allowing the silk to flow freely. The styling highlights her shoulders and stance, giving the overall look an effortless intensity. Soft waves in her hair add movement, while her bold Kohl-rimmed eyes and a small bindi root her in tradition. The balance between modern confidence and cultural depth is evident, making the images both arresting and soulful.

The photoshoot thrives on rawness rather than over-polish. A single rose in her hand, dimly lit surroundings, and a gaze that is commanding rather than pleading complete the mood. Faria doesn't just pose in the saree; she reclaims it, embodying both grace and fierceness.

What could have been a classic traditional look turns into something almost untouchable in her presence. With this shoot, Faria Abdullah proves that fashion is not merely about what one wears, but about how one owns it.
