IPL AUCTION Uncapped players strike gold!

ABU DHABI

KOLKATA Knight Riders (KKR) splurged a record-breaking Rs 25.20 crore to land top Australian all-rounder Cameron Green and Rs 18 crore to acquire the services of Sri Lankan pacer Matheesha Pathirana in the Indian Premier League players' auction here on Tuesday.

Uncapped Indian players were also a big hit with Uttar Pradesh's 20-year-old left-arm spinner Prashant Veer going to Chennai Super Kings for Rs 14.20 crore. He became the highest paid uncapped player in the history of IPL auction after coming in at a base price of Rs 30 lakh. Jammu and

CSK splurge Rs 14.2cr each on Prashant & Kartik

Kashmir pacer Aqub Nabi Dar also attracted a hefty sum of Rs 8.40 crore from Delhi Capitals to be among the top gainers in the mini auction. Dar's base price was also Rs 30 lakh. Indian stars Prithvi Shaw and Sarfaraz Khan, however, went unsold in the auction despite their good run of form with the bat.

Green surpassed compatriot Mitchell Starc (Rs 24.75 crore) to become the most expensive overseas player at an IPL auction. This was after Kolkata Knight Riders and Chennai Super Kings were involved in an intense bidding war for him before the latter emerged winner.

KKR also went after Venkatesh Iyer before pulling out of the race against Royal Challengers Bengaluru, who got the India all-rounder for Rs 7 crore. The three-time champions then entered the fray to buy Pathirana after Delhi Capitals and Lucknow Super Giants withdrew following an intense bidding war between the two franchises.

Entering the auction at a base price of Rs 2 crore, Pathirana became the most expensive Sri Lankan sold in an IPL auction. As far as Green is concerned, his salary for the season would still be Rs 18 crore (USD 1.9 million) as the rest of the amount will go towards the BCCI's player development programme as per the rules of the auction for foreign players.

Pathirana will get the full amount as it falls within the salary cap. Green, who previously turned up for

Mumbai Indians and Royal Challengers Bengaluru, has so far played 29 matches in the IPL to aggregate 707 runs and take 16 wickets. Shaw, however, went unsold despite his fine run of form in the domestic circuit lately, and so was the case with Sarfaraz, who smashed a 22-ball 73 in a Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy match for Mumbai on Tuesday. Big-hitting South African batter David Miller was bought by Delhi Capitals for his base price of Rs 2 crore, but New Zealand swashbuckler Devon Conway, whose base price was also Rs 2 crore, went unsold in the auction. Continued on Page 5 wages, social security, and protection against precarious employment.

Leaders of the movement stated that the protests would be held in all states, with participation from farmers' groups, rural workers, and urban labour unions. They emphasised that the Central Government must recognise the importance of MGNREGA not only as a poverty alleviation programme but also as a tool for strengthening grassroots democracy and empowering marginalised communities.

The unions have urged the government to increase funding for the scheme, ensure timely disbursement of wages, and expand its scope to meet the rising demand for employment. They also called for stronger enforcement of labour laws to safeguard workers in both the organised and unorganised sectors.

Organisers expressed confidence that the 22 December protests would send a strong message to policymakers about the need to prioritise workers' welfare and uphold the constitutional commitment to social justice. They reiterated that defending MGNREGA is essential for protecting the rights and dignity of millions of working people across India.

MLA's inspection exposes large-scale irregularities in cooperative stores

HANUMAKONDA

WARANGAL West MLA Nayini Rajender on Tuesday conducted a surprise inspection at the office of the Co-operative Stores Ltd, Kalpalatha Super Bazaar, at Rangampeta. Soon after arrival, he expressed strong displeasure over the absence of staff in the office.

Although the register showed seven staff members, only three were present; only two were found to be on duty. Subsequently, he thoroughly examined the office records, registers and income and expenditure documents.

He observed that the institution was still being run like a puppet by the previous management; financial irregularities had taken place in membership registration. The fee collected for membership registration were diverted through improper channels, with no supporting evidence available.

It was found that members of the super bazaar managing committee had been using diesel and petrol for their personal purposes for the past three years without permission; diesel bills had still not been paid. In the petrol bunk run under the co-operative institution, the register showed salaries of ₹10,000 per month were being drawn in the names of 10 employees, but their signatures were missing.

After the inspection, the MLA informed the DC over phone and instructed that the registers be immediately seized. Following this, the RDO rushed to the super bazaar office and examined the records. Naini said irregularities at super bazaar had been coming to his notice for a long time. He stated that after formation of the Congress government, steps are being taken to prevent corruption in every sector; the concerned officials were instructed to immediately conduct an inquiry into the scam that took place. The government would support the employees working in the society so that they do not face any difficulties. He directed officials to take immediate action against those found guilty.

THE Singareni Collieries Company Limited (SCCL) will sign two Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) with the Industrial Promotion and Investment Corporation of Odisha Limited (IPICOL) on Thursday (December 18) for setting up mega thermal and green energy power projects with a total capacity of 4,900 MW in Odisha, according to SCCL Chairman and Managing Director N Balaram.

In a statement issued on Tuesday, the SCCL CMD said the company has decided to establish a 2,400 MW (3x800 MW) ultra-supercritical thermal power plant linked to its Naini coal block in Odisha. The MoU with IPICOL will facilitate the implementation of the project.

He explained that as per conditions, coal produced from the Naini block must be utilised for captive power generation, making the thermal power project essential. The initiative is expected to benefit both Odisha and SCCL by ensuring optimal utilisation of coal resources and strengthening power infrastructure.

In addition to thermal power, SCCL has drawn up ambitious plans to expand its green energy portfolio in Odisha.

As part of this, the company plans to set up 1,000 MW of solar power plants, 500 MW of floating solar power, 500 MW of wind power projects, and a 500 MW pumped storage power project, taking the total green energy capacity to 2,500 MW. A separate MoU for these projects will also be signed with IPICOL on December 18.

Officials of IPICOL have expressed their willingness to partner with SCCL in view of Odisha's power requirements and development priorities.

The MoUs will be formally signed in the presence of senior officials from both organisations.

Village development possible only under Cong rule: Sanjeev Mudiraj

Appeals to the people to elect Congress-backed candidates in third phase of polls

HANS NEWS SERVICE
MAHABUBNAGAR

District Congress Committee (DCC) president Sanjeev Mudiraj on Tuesday asserted that comprehensive village development is possible only under the Congress government and urged voters to support Congress-backed candidates in the third phase of local body elections.

Addressing a press conference at the Congress office in the district headquarters, Mudiraj said the Congress party had secured encouraging results in the first two phases of the Sarpanch elections, clearly reflecting the people's confidence in the party.

He stated that a large number of Congress-supported candidates emerged victorious due to public backing and appealed to voters to continue the momentum in the upcoming phase for the overall development of villages.

Highlighting the party's commitment to social justice, Mudiraj referred to Rahul Gandhi's vision of proportional representation based on population.

He said that under the leadership of Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy, the Telangana Assembly passed a resolution proposing 42 percent reservations for Backward Classes (BCs) and forwarded it to the Centre, but alleged that it was yet to be implemented. However, he noted that the Congress Party is implementing 42 percent reservations in general seats at the organisational level. He added that the party had provided opportunities to SCs, STs, BCs, and minorities in general seats, with many candidates winning the elections. He said the Congress Party enjoys strong grassroots support across villages in the district.

MUDA Chairman Laxman Yadav, Market Committee Chairperson Bekkari Anita, and party leaders C.J. Benahar, Azmath Ali, Ramulu Yadav, Balaswamy, Kanchimi Laxman, Praveen Kumar, Moiz, and others were present at the press conference.

G RAM G Bill introduced in LS amid Oppn uproar

Opposition members strongly opposed the proposed legislation at the introduction stage and pressed for sending the Bill to a Parliamentary panel for greater scrutiny. The MPs, including Priyanka Gandhi of the Congress, strongly objected to the "removal" of Mahatma Gandhi's name.

Opposing the Bill at the introduction stage, T R Baalu of DMK said Mahatma Gandhi lived in villages and worked for the welfare of the poor there. He said then prime minister Manmohan Singh brought the "noble bill" (MNREGA), which helped the poorest of the poor get 100 days of employment. The Father of the Nation is being "ridiculed" by the present government, he charged.

Priyanka Gandhi Vadra registered her "strong objection" to the draft law, saying MNREGA was a revolutionary Act which was supported by all members of the House when it was passed. "Under this, the poorest of the poor get 100 days of employment. This (present) Bill is weakening the employment rights of the poor. It is against the Constitution," she claimed. The MP from Kerala's Wayanad said the MGNREG Act has ensured the Centre provides 90 per cent of the funds for the works undertaken under the law. "It will be reduced to 60 per cent now. This will hit the finances of the state governments, especially those waiting for GST compensation, she pointed out.

"Under this bill, the Centre's control over the scheme will increase, but its responsibility will come down." Responding to certain remarks by some ruling party MPs, Priyanka said Mahatma Gandhi was not from her family, but he was from every family in the country. She proposed sending the Bill to a Parliamentary panel.

Congress' Shashi Tharoor took a sharp dig at the government while opposing the VB-G RAM G Bill, recalling the 1971 hit Bollywood number -- "Dekho o deewano (tum) ye kaam na karo, Ram ka naam badnaam na karo (don't sully Lord Ram's name)". Tharoor asserted that the Bill is not merely an administrative tweak but an "assault on the very spirit and philosophical foundation of this crucial programme".

The Opposition members also came to the Well of the House, holding up photographs of Mahatma Gandhi, expressing their disapproval of the "removal" of the name of the Father of the Nation.

According to a copy of the Bill, it will provide a statutory guarantee of 125 days of wage employment in a financial year to every rural household whose adult members volunteer to undertake unskilled manual work. Within six months from the date of commencement of the VB-G RAM G Act, states will have to make a scheme consistent with the provisions of the new law.

In a statement, the Rural Development Ministry said the proposed legislation will establish a modern statutory framework aligned with the goal of 'Viksit Bharat 2047'. It said the Bill aims to create both employment and durable rural infrastructure through four priority verticals -- water security through water-related works, core rural infrastructure, livelihood-related infrastructure, and special works to mitigate extreme weather events.

All assets created are aggregated into the Viksit Bharat National Rural Infrastructure Stack, ensuring a unified, coordinated national development strategy, the statement said. The ministry termed it a "major upgrade" over MGNREGA, fixing structural weaknesses while enhancing employment, transparency, planning, and accountability.

During a meeting with her in New Delhi, Revanth Reddy said that each integrated school will admit 2,560 students from class 5 to 12th. Approximately 2.70 lakh students will directly get admission and avail quality education through these 105 schools. Each such school will serve as educational hubs for the nearby government schools, indirectly benefiting lakhs of students.

Another Rs 9,000 crore would be spent on providing modern labs and other infrastructure in junior, degree and technical colleges, apart from other higher education institutions in the state. Around Rs 30,000 crore are required for a comprehensive development of the education sector, he explained. In view of the huge requirement of funds, Revanth Reddy said that Centre's support was the need of the hour as it would help strengthen the state's education sector. Later, Nirmala Sitharaman praised the initiatives being undertaken by the Telangana government in developing the education sector, particularly the establishment of YIIRS.

The Union Minister urged the Chief minister to provide SPC details to her.

A 'north-south divide' over Hindi names for new laws

NEW DELHI

THE row over the renaming of MNREGA has highlighted the Centre's new practice of naming Bills in Hindi, deviating from the tradition of providing a Hindi and an English name for each Bill.

A slew of Bills in recent months have come with just Hindi names -- packing in an acronym -- which many have claimed is another attempt at homogenization through language.

The practice has resonated especially in the south, where leaders have equated it with another attempt at Hindi imposition.

The Congress is already seeing red over naming MNREGA -- a homage to Mahatma Gandhi -- after Lord Ram. While the BJP is jeering that it is another evidence of the party's aversion to Hindu religion and ethos, the use of Hindi names appears to be about to widen the north-south divide.

Many MPs and political leaders, meanwhile, have contended that the names in Hindi are difficult to understand.

On Monday, as Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan presented the Viksit Bharat Shiksha Adhishthan Bill in the Lok Sabha, RSP(A) leader NK Premachandran said it was difficult for him to pronounce the name. He contended that this practice of using Hindi names violates Article 348(B) of the Constitution, which says new laws should have names in English.

Congress member Jothimani and DMK member T M Selvaganapathi also made their reservations clear. "I see this as an imposition of Hindi. Already, Tamil Nadu has been deprived of SSA funds just because we have opposed the three-language policy in the National Education Policy-2020," Jothimani said.

DMK leader T R Baalu also spoke against "imposition" of Hindi on southern states.

Congress's P Chidambaram said the change "is an affront to non-Hindi speaking

Article 348(1)(b) of the Constitution says until Parliament decides otherwise, texts of all Bills, Acts, Ordinances, orders, rules, regulations, and by-laws at the Central and state levels, as well as all proceedings in the Supreme Court and High Courts, must be in English.

58 LAKH NAMES DELETED IN WEST BENGAL DRAFT SIR

NEW DELHI

IN a development likely to raise a political storm in poll-bound West Bengal, a total of 58 lakh names have been deleted from the state's draft voter list after the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) to weed out duplication and errors.

Out of these 58 lakh names, 24 lakh have been marked as "dead", 19 lakh as "relocated", 12 lakh as "missing", and 1.3 lakh as "duplicate".

The publication of the draft list marks the end of the first phase of the Special Intensive Revision. Those whose names have been incorrectly excluded from the draft list can now raise objections and request corrections.

After addressing these objections, the final list will be published in February next year. The announcement of the Assembly polls in Bengal is expected after the publication of the final list. SIR was last conducted in Bengal in 2002.

Trinamool MP Saugata Roy termed the deletion of 58 lakh names "injustice". "This is the BJP's conspiracy to remove legitimate voters from Bengal's list. We have set up voter assistance booths and we will help them submit forms to include their names in the voter list," he said.

The publication of the draft list is likely to intensify the political uproar in Bengal over SIR.

Chief Minister and Trinamool Congress chief Mamata Banerjee has opposed the exercise and accused the Centre and the Election Commission of using SIR to delete the names of lakhs of eligible voters ahead of the election.

24 lakh dead, 12 lakh missing

Employment guarantee scheme must be free from political interferences

Revamping welfare schemes is a good idea, so changes in the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme, per se, are not objectionable. However, the way it is being done smacks of a desire to score political points. It begins with the name. The Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) is proposed to be replaced with the Viksit Bharat Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (Grameen), or VB G RAM Priyanka Gandhi Vadra reacted with “Why are they removing Mahatma Gandhi’s name? He is considered the biggest Indian leader. Whenever such a name changes, a lot of expenditure happens in stationery and paperwork.” More than that it makes the government a target for its detractors, which is increasingly coming under the influence of Gandhi haters. This does no good to the government under the Sangh Parivar, many of whose members have expressed admiration for Nathuram Godse. Enacted by the Congress-led United Progressive Alliance (UPA) government in 2005, the MGNREGA guarantees 100 days of work in villages. The Act has a provision for an unemployment allowance. “MGNREGA is bottom-up, people-centred, demand-driven, self-selecting and rights-based programme. It provides a legal guarantee for wage employment by providing allowances and compensation both in cases of failure to provide work on demand and delays in payment of wages for work undertaken,” an official document says. The new Bill proposes several changes. It raises the 100-day guarantee to 125. Also, the scheme will no longer be demand-driven. Further, states will bear the financial burden partially. At present, the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme is entirely a Centrally-sponsored scheme—that is, the Centre provides 100 per cent of wages, while states take care of a small part of the expenses in hiring skilled labour and arranging materials. Under G Ram G, the Centre’s contribution will be limited to 60 per cent, whereas most states will have to spend 40 per cent. For Northeastern and Himalayan states, this ratio will be 90:10. The new legislation proposes that work under the revamped scheme will not be available during the peak agricultural season. The government will rely on biometrics and geo-tagging for transparency. Non-availability of work during the peak agricultural season will be vehemently protested by the Left and civil society organisations. Communist leaders are no longer as powerful or influential as they were when the MNREGA came into being but Left-leaning NGOs and public intellectuals are still a force to reckon with.

The government will have a tough time tackling their resistance. At any rate, this provision privileges the interests of farmers over labourers; it will be interesting to see how the BJP will face the criticism of being anti-poor. Besides, states, especially those under non-BJP parties, will be loath to share the burden of the rural employment guarantee scheme.

There are also states like Kerala, West Bengal, Andhra Pradesh, and Punjab, which face tremendous fiscal challenges, and it will be extremely difficult for them to finance the revamped scheme. Therefore, all stakeholders must try to sort out the matter in a spirit of cooperative federalism. The Centre should be willing to accept reasonable amendments to the proposed legislation, and states should rise above party and parochial interests to make the scheme better.

Manekshaw was one of a kind

The opinion piece on Field Marshal Sam Manekshaw ‘Surrender or get wiped out’, Manekshaw’s ultimatum to Pak is a standout battle cry’ (THI Dec 16) rightly evokes a military mind where wit reinforced, rather than diluted, authority. Manekshaw’s genius lay in combining strategic patience with an unshakeable moral confidence. His famous ‘I’m always ready, sweetie’ was not banter but a declaration rooted in preparedness. Equally prescient was his warning that premature political orders, if issued, “may never be received,” a rare assertion of professional integrity in civil and military relations. His humour, often quoted, was forged in far harsher circumstances. The surrender of 93,000 Pakistani soldiers was not merely a battlefield triumph but an unprecedented strategic leverage. That such leverage failed to deliver a final settlement on Kashmir remains one of India’s costliest diplomatic omissions. Against this legacy, Pakistan’s present attempts to elevate General Munir to Manekshaw’s stature appear aspirational at best. After all, history, not rank or rhetoric, confers stature.

Name change or a game changer?

THE decision of the Union Government to increase the guaranteed work to 125 days per rural household and focus on four areas like increasing rural connectivity, climate resilience, rural livelihood infrastructure and water security under the newly named rural employment guaranteed Act is a welcome move. But changing the name of the scheme introduced in 2005 by the UPA regime should have been avoided. The NDA government has been gradually reducing its budgetary allocation stating that the scheme had some loopholes. Although an increase to 125 days per household is good, it still falls short of the demand for 200 days work a year. The government should increase the wages and make the ratio of Union and States’ contribution to 9:1 instead of 6:4 as the financial status of most of the States are not good.

‘G RAM G’ brings no cheer

The proposed revised form of MGNREGA, which will be renamed as VB G RAM G Bill, has come up with unlimited promise, but limited guarantee. The nature of supply driven job provision instead of the erstwhile demand will result in cutting the size of resources to the needy people. The proposed ban on the works under the scheme during peak agricultural season would put job seekers at a disadvantageous position regarding their negotiations of daily wages. The minimising of central share from ninety percent to sixty percent for the scheme would burden cash strapped states further. Instead of strengthening the scheme, the Centre has come up with a weakened version when it is aiming for Viksit Bharath.

Dr D V G Sankara Rao, Srikulam

Name spree continues with G RAM G

THE Narendra Modi-led Union Government has decided to replace the world’s largest rural jobs programme MGNAREGA with Viksit Bharat Gurantee Rojgar Ajeevika Machine Gramin (VB- G RAM G) after earlier renaming Raj Bhavan and the PMO, among others. Though the renamed rural jobs programme is aimed at increasing the number days to 125 from 100, it has a paused provision for 60 days in a year. Further it changed the Centre and state ratio of financial commit from 90:10 to 60:40 and capped budget support. This implies that some States must shell from their coffers if they spend more than what is allotted to them. However, app-based attendance, Aadhar linked payments and geotagging workites are welcome as these become part of the law and can enhance transparency and accountability.

Congress will return to power in 2028 as well: CM

BELAGAVI: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday asserted that the Congress will return to power in Karnataka in 2028 with the people’s mandate, just as it did in 2023, and said the BJP would continue to remain in the Opposition.

Speaking in the Legislative Assembly at Suvarna Soukha while responding to questions raised by the Opposition, the Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said the Congress government enjoys the support of 140 MLAs and that there was no need for the Opposition to create unnecessary speculation.

Referring to a popular proverb, Siddaramaiah remarked that the role of the Opposition seemed to be adding salt to a burning wound. He said that despite repeated provocations, none of the ruling party legislators would be swayed. “The people have blessed me to serve as Chief Minister for five years. We have the strength of 140 MLAs, and the Opposition need not indulge in sour commentary,” he said. The Chief Minister said the Congress government clearly understands the pulse of the people. “Just as the people blessed us in 2023, they will do so again in 2028. The people of Karnataka will never bring the BJP to power,” he asserted.

Siddaramaiah alleged that although the BJP has ruled the state twice, it never came to power with a clear popular mandate.

THE Supreme Court’s decision comes as a whiff of fresh air to the countless victims of cyber frauds. It is heartening that courts, when necessary, take responsible and appropriate decisions on key public issues — decisions that governments and police should be making — and even provide guidelines for their implementation. This is a wake-up call for those who uphold democracy and the separation of powers of their duty.

With “digital arrest scams” proliferating across the country, the Supreme Court’s directions to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) for carrying out a comprehensive probe into such crimes and criminals — including seeking Interpol’s cooperation and tracing the origins — should be seen as a positive development in criminal justice prudence. The Court also issued notices to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), directing it to use artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning to investigate deep-rooted patterns of funds being moved through various banks in these crimes, so that proper inquiries can be conducted and perpetrators cannot escape. Referring to the Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021, the Supreme Court ordered online intermediaries to cooperate with the CBI and asked them to collect and hand over data and information related to digital arrests to investigative agencies.

The court suggested that states and Union Territories not only set up coordination centers to thoroughly investigate cybercrime but also adopt plans to proactively prevent such offenses. The apex court also directed that the cyber-crime coordination centres be linked with law enforcement agencies so that cybercrimes can be taken up for investigation.

A few days ago, under the leadership of Chief Justice Suryakant, the Supreme Court gave the CBI detailed guidelines on cybercrime—particularly digital arrests—sending a strong signal that tackling these crimes is being treated as a high priority. The court identified three types of cyber scams. One involves online “digital arrests” where perpetrators, often targeting retired officers, pose as investigative agencies and extort their hard earned money and cause severe psychological distress. Although media reports show these offences are occurring across the country, they have not stopped and gullible people continue to fall prey. The Supreme Court specifically entrusted the CBI with the responsibility of apprehending those who run such scams and carrying out investigations.

Scammers are running another kind of cybercrime: luring victims with attractive-sounding investments, getting them to deposit large sums, and defrauding them under the guise of “advance tax” or other pretexts. Another widespread cyber-scam involves flooding WhatsApp with ads for supposed part-time jobs, using YouTube to offer “free tasks” for small payments to gain trust, then convincing victims to pay large amounts for “premium” tasks. Many people have encountered these scams. Victims often suffer in silence, not reporting to the police, and some become so distressed that they end their lives. The central government informed the Supreme Court in a note that cybercriminals have already swindled nearly Rs 30 billion. These fraudsters, posing as digital authorities, are extorting hard-earned

Saluting VNVK Sastry, a selfless supporter of adivasis

DR MADABHUSHI SRIDHAR

LITTLE boys and girls of a primary school in Nalgonda district once cried inconsolably when their beloved teacher, V N V K Sastry, was transferred. Refusing to accept the loss quietly, they walked nearly ten kilometres to the national highway and staged a protest until their voices were heard. Blessed indeed is the teacher who wins such young hearts.

That instinctive affection followed Dr Sastry wherever he went. A retired senior officer, social anthropologist, and lifelong fieldworker, he habitually won hearts through devotion to duty and an unshakeable concern for the people he served. Recalling their nearly five-decade-long association around 2020, senior journalist and former editor of The Hindu (Hyderabad), Dasu Keshav Rao, summed him up in simple terms: a man who never worked for files alone, but for people.

A full moon night in Srisaalam:

One incident narrated by Keshav Rao captures the essence of Dr Sastry’s life. On a full-moon night in December 1988, when he was heading the Chenchu Project, they were in the core area of the Srisaalam Tiger Sanctuary, where they were treated to welcome festivities that were organised by the Chenchu community. Earlier that day, they had visited an ashram school where conditions were appalling. The warden was absent, as usual; children were being served rotten rice and tamarind water in the name of sambar. The fine rice meant for the children never reached the school.

Dr Sastry suspended the absentee warden on the spot and immediately arranged a proper meal—rice, curries, sambar and milk—something the children rarely got to toast. The following morning, as they were driving away, a group of men suddenly intercepted their vehicle, running and panting from a distant hamlet located beyond a hill.

Alarmed, they asked if something was wrong.

“Pani emi ledu saar. Meeru maa penta vachaaru. Memu adiviki poyaamu. Choodaadaniki vachaamu. Anthe saar.”

Nothing was wrong, they explained. They had only come to see and thank the officer who had visited their village.

A life dedicated to adivasi communities:

The humble friend of adivasis he passed away in the early hours of December 8, at the age of 78. His demise marks the end of a remarkable five-decade journey that was dedicated to understanding, documenting, and empowering adivasi communities in Telangana and Andhra Pradesh.

A Ph.D. in Social Anthropology from Andhra University (1980), he spent 52 years in research, fieldwork, institutional building, and training. He emerged as one of South India’s most respected scholars of tribal societies. He authored ten major books and over a hundred research papers and articles in English and Telugu, covering tribal women, forest rights, cultural change, development models, and the everyday lives of remote communities. Reflecting on the physical price of such commitment, he once remarked with characteristic humour:

Friends and former colleagues remember him as a gentle intellectual, a disciplined researcher, and an unwavering advocate of Adivasi dignity. He combined rigorous empirical fieldwork with rare human warmth, ensuring that tribal voices found space in policy, scholarship, and public discourse.

“I earned malaria as a recurring deposit and amoebiasis as a fixed deposit—no regrets.”

Asked what “VNVK” stood for, he smiled and said, “I don’t know—perhaps Very Nice, Very Kind.”

20 years of service post-retirement:

Joining government service in the early 1970s, Dr Sastry served for 34 years in the Tribal Welfare Department of the Government of Andhra Pradesh, retiring in 2005 as Director of Tribal Cultural Research and Training Institute (TCR&TI), Hyderabad.

His postings took him deep into the tribal belts of Warangal, Adilabad, Kurnool, and the erstwhile Khammam district, where he implemented complex welfare, education, forest rights, and rehabilitation programmes.

He held key positions across ITDAs, TCR&TI, TWREIS, and EPTRI Hyderabad.

Colleagues remember him as a deeply field-oriented officer whose work consistently placed tribal communities—not bureaucratic convenience—at the centre of administration.

A Adilabad specialist:

Reverentially hailed as an Adilabad specialist, the district’s history, culture, and struggles were etched deeply into his scholarship and memory. It is now 44 years since the police firing at Indrevelli, where several Gond tribals were martyred. His work stands as a tribute not only to the Gonds, but also to the people of the district and their rich cultural diversity.

The mighty Godavari, Pranahitha, Penganga, Kaddem, and numerous rivulets flow through dense forests that account for nearly half of the district’s geographical area.

Adilabad also houses a significant tribal population. Here, diversity is strikingly evident: Gonds, Kolams, Nairkods, Lambadas, Pardhans, and Thotis live in a complex and symbiotic relationship with nature.

Images from those years flicker vividly: the Indrevelli firing on the Gonds; police-Naxal encounters in the Aalampally forests; the Tamil Nadu Express accident near Sirpur; the Dakshin Express derailment at Mancherla; and the tireless efforts of committed officers such as VPC. Sastry, CVSK Sarma, KR Kishore, Subrahmanyam, Manohar Prasad, GN Phani Kumar, and VNVK Sastry to improve the lives of tribal communities. Equally vivid are memories of Prof Christoph von Fürer-Haimendorf’s visit to Marlawai to perform the last rites of his wife, Betty, and the vibrant Kelsapur Jatra.

Indrevelli killings:

Three officers from Hyderabad were among the first to reach Indrevelli, where police had opened fire on protesting Gonds the previous evening, killing many and injuring several others. The administration was dazed and uncertain about the actual casualty figures. The three officers trekked through forests and hill-top habitations, braving scorching summer heat and humidity, to meet the injured and the families of the deceased.

Later, when the Collector, AK Goel, informed forest officials at Mancherla that the Indrevelli toll was far higher than the officially stated figure—he did mention the actual number to Keshav Rao—it became clear how deeply the truth had been suppressed.

A pioneering anthropologist

Dr Sastry’s scholarliness traversed anthropology, ecology, tribal history, and literature. His works, published in academic journals and government reports, and available on public platforms, remain foundational texts for students, administrators, and young researchers.

His notable publications are: Andhra Pradesh Tribal Women and Children – An Overview, Changing Patterns in Tribal Societies, Komaram Bheem (Telugu), Sanchara Sravanthi (Telugu), Reports for the Ministry of Tribal Affairs, and Training manuals and textbooks, including contributions to undergraduate curricula

Mentor, adviser and advocate:

Even after retirement, Dr Sastry remained intellectually active and socially committed. For nearly two decades, he served as a freelance consultant and guest faculty, Institute of Tribal Development Studies, Hyderabad; contributed to NALSA Tribal Rights training modules for legal services authorities; expert investigator, Centre for Good Governance (World Bank land governance project); Course editor, PG Diploma in Tribal Development Management, NIRD; Member, National Expert Committees on Bauxite Mining (A.P) and Kolleru Lake Sanctuary; senior consultant, APARD and adviser for Andhra Pradesh Community Forest Management Project (World Bank).

His deep understanding of forest rights, land governance, and community institutions made him a sought-after expert across government agencies and academic institutions.

Friends and former colleagues remember him as a gentle intellectual, a disciplined researcher, and an unwavering advocate of Adivasi dignity. He combined rigorous empirical fieldwork with rare human warmth, ensuring that tribal voices found space in policy, scholarship, and public discourse.

His passing away leaves a profound void in anthropology, tribal welfare administration, and development studies. Yet his writings, training programmes, institutions, students, and the countless tribal families, whose lives he touched, stand as his enduring legacy.

Training young minds for India’s space future

FROM CHANDRAYAAN TO GAGANYAAN, THE NEXT LEAP DEPENDS ON TRAINING THE NEXT GENERATION OF SPACE INNOVATORS

- Youth as a strategic asset: India’s demographic advantage can drive long-term leadership in space science and technology.
- Expanding access to space education: Outreach programmes, early education and regional-language content can democratise learning.
- Academia–industry collaboration:: Partnerships with startups and private players are enabling hands-on training and innovation.
- Bridging gaps for sustainability: Addressing rural access, faculty shortages and industry alignment is vital for future missions

Dr PRIYANK KUMAR

India has made remarkable achievements in space exploration in the last two decades, carving a distinctive position among space powers. From launching satellites for global clients to accomplishing the unprecedented mission of Chandrayaan-3 and gearing up for Gaganyaan human space flight, ISRO has set new benchmarks in the segment.

However, these achievements are just the beginning, as India’s most valuable asset, its youth, will keep the momentum going and growing. Hence, investing in training young minds will lead to a strong, innovative, and self-reliant space ecosystem.

Today, space education is no longer confined to elite institutions or specialized research centres. It is becoming a national priority, especially as space technology increasingly merges with artificial intelligence, robotics , climate science, and life sciences. As one of the youngest nations on the planet, India has a demographic advantage that can be leveraged to fuel its space future.

By introducing space science early in education and creating pathways for hands-on learning, India can cultivate a generation of thinkers, builders, and explorers who will shape the next era of space innovation.

To support this vision, several outreach programs have been launched for students at various levels. For instance, ISRO’s Yuvika programme, also termed the Young Scientist Programme, inspires young students with comprehensive knowledge on Space Technology, Space Science, and Space Applications.

Such meticulously designed programmes motivate students to pursue higher studies in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) and contribute to the nation’s scientific growth.

In addition to these initiatives, prominent educational institutions like BIT Mesra are offering specialized programs in aerospace engineering and =rocket technology. These institutions are fostering interdisciplinary learning, encouraging students to explore the connections between space and other promising fields such as data science, environmental studies, and automation.

It is also important to mention the increasing role of the private sector in space education and innovation, as cutting-edge startups and tech organisations are collaborating with academic institutions to offer internships, workshops, and mentorship programs. These partnerships are fostering a vibrant ecosystem where students can work on live projects, develop prototypes, and even launch small satellites. The rise of space-tech incubators and accelerators is further driving entrepreneurial interest among young innovators.

However, despite the growing momentum, India’s space education landscape faces several challenges that must be addressed to sustain long-term progress. In this regard, uneven access to classrooms, and regional language content can help democratize access to space knowledge. This inclusive approach ensures that talent from every corner of the country can contribute to India’s space journey.

Looking ahead, India’s space ambitions are set to rival those of established space powers like the United States, Russia, and China. Missions to study the Sun (Aditya-L1), Venus, interplanetary exploration and setting up our own Bhartiya Antariksha Station are advancing, and to support them, a highly skilled workforce with expertise in astrophysics, planetary science, and advanced propulsion systems will be essential. This makes it even more crucial to create a strong educational foundation today.

India’s rising prowess in space is a testament to its scientific expertise and visionary leadership. But the true potential lies in empowering the next generation of space scientists, engineers, and entrepreneurs. By investing in education, fostering innovation, and forging inclusive opportunities, India will not just prepare for future missions but will shape the future of space itself.

Seerat-un-Nabi educational initiative identifies ‘100 Gems’ for advanced training programmes

HYDERABAD: A large-scale Seerat-un-Nabi competition concluded at Shahi Masjid Bagh-e-Aam, drawing a gathering of more than 2,000 participants here on Tuesday. The concluding ceremony was addressed by international motivational speaker Munawar Zama, who highlighted the importance of structured learning and character development.

The faith-based educational initiative was organized under the supervision of the mosque’s Imam, Maulana Ahsan Al Hamoomi, with the objective of promoting systematic study of the life and teachings of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). Participants from diverse backgrounds—including students, working professionals, and senior citizens—took part in the program. According to the organizers, around 1,200 candidates appeared for written examinations conducted in two sessions after a three-month preparation period. Study materials were made available in multiple languages to ensure wider participation.

Addressing the gathering, Munawar Zama, Founder and CEO of English House Academy, announced the selection of 100 top-performing participants, referred to as the “100 Gems,” who will be enrolled in advanced development programs.

These programs will focus on communication skills, debating, and emerging technologies, including artificial intelligence. He also announced a 50 percent fee concession for deserving candidates and full scholarships for orphaned students. Maulana Ahsan Al Hamoomi proposed the introduction of annual leadership camps for the selected participants to further enhance their sense of social responsibility and community engagement.

The event witnessed several moving moments, including senior citizens returning to examination halls after several decades. Organizers announced plans to make the Seerat-un-Nabi competition an annual event, with possibilities of expanding it to other parts of India.

Today is National Say It Now Day

EXPRESSING THANKS: A GIFT THAT BUILDS RELATIONSHIPS

In today’s fast-paced world, youngsters often move from one goal to another without pausing to reflect on the people who support them along the way. Friends who listen, family members who sacrifice, and loved ones who encourage us quietly shape our lives every day. Learning to express gratitude and appreciation to these people is not only a kind gesture but also a powerful habit that can transform relationships and personal well-being.

Gratitude is more than simply saying “thank you” out of politeness. It is about acknowledging how someone’s presence, words, or actions have made a meaningful difference in our lives.

When youngsters take the time to tell a friend, “You helped me believe in myself,” or tell a parent, “Your support gave me strength,” they create moments of deep emotional connection. These honest expressions remind others that their efforts matter and are noticed.

Encouraging youngsters to express appreciation also helps them develop empathy and emotional intelligence. By reflecting on how others have influenced them, young people learn to see beyond themselves. They begin to understand that success, happiness, and growth are rarely achieved alone. This awareness fosters humility and strengthens bonds built on respect and understanding. Expressing gratitude can also have a positive impact on mental health. Studies and everyday experiences show that people who practice gratitude feel happier, less stressed, and more optimistic. For youngsters facing academic pressure, social challenges, or uncertainty about the future, focusing on appreciation can shift their mindset from what is lacking to what is meaningful. Sharing gratitude out loud amplifies this effect, creating a cycle of positivity between individuals.

Moreover, telling loved ones how they have made a difference can leave a lasting impression. Words of appreciation are often remembered long after gifts or achievements fade. A simple message, letter, or heartfelt conversation can strengthen relationships and even heal misunderstandings. For some, hearing appreciation at the right moment can provide motivation, comfort, or hope.

In conclusion, encouraging youngsters to express gratitude and appreciation is an investment in stronger relationships and healthier communities. By openly telling friends, family, and loved ones how they have shaped their lives, young people learn the value of kindness, connection, and emotional honesty. A few sincere words can make a lifetime of difference—for both the speaker and the listener.

Single light pulse can control quantum states in 2D materials: IIT Bombay Scientists at the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Bombay announced that they have discovered a simple new way to use light to control quantum states inside ultra-thin materials, a breakthrough that could lead to computers that are far faster and more energy-efficient than today’s electronic devices.

The research focuses on two-dimensional semiconductors, materials that are only one atom thick and thousands of times thinner than a human hair. Inside these materials, electrons can exist in two distinct quantum states known as valleys, labelled K and K’.

These two states can be compared to the 0 and 1 used in digital computing, forming the basis of a growing research area called valleytronics.

Until now, controlling these valley states has been difficult. Earlier techniques required complex laser setups using circularly polarised light and multiple laser pulses, and even then, the control was often incomplete or hard to measure.

As a result, reliable and reversible switching between the two valley states remained a major challenge.

The IIT Bombay team has now shown that this complex setup is not necessary. In a study published in the journal ‘Advanced Optical Materials’, the researchers demonstrated that a single linearly polarised laser pulse can both control and read the valley state of electrons.

The key lies in introducing a small, controlled skew in the laser pulse’s polarisation. According to Prof. Gopal Dixit from IIT Bombay, this slight asymmetry in the laser pulse is enough to push electrons into either the K or K’ valley.

By reversing the skew in the pulse, the electrons can be switched back to the other valley. This makes the process fully reversible, with the two valley states effectively acting as quantum versions of 0 and 1.

What makes the discovery even more significant is that the same laser pulse also generates a tiny electric current.

This current acts as a built-in signal that reveals which valley state the electrons have moved into. In simple terms, the system can be controlled and read at the same time, without the need for extra lasers or measuring devices.

The researchers also found that the method works across a wide range of laser wavelengths and does not need to be finely tuned to the material’s energy levels.

Love after 40: Not just romance, a practical support system for child's life pressures

ASKARI JAFFER

In your 20s, love is all about taking chances just because the moment felt right and the luxury to make mistakes. But, dating in 40s is a different energy. It is more stable, calm, and grounded in life experience. By this age, people have lived enough to know what truly matters and what's merely noise. Young people imagine love is like two pieces of a puzzle that complete each other. But mature daters know better; it is two complete individuals choosing to support and help each other grow.

In the last few years, love has taken on a whole new meaning for divorced, separated, and widowed singles with kids. It is not only about romance; it has become a real source of support. When life is a full

Love after 40 isn't about chasing sparks—it's about building stability, understanding, and shared strength. For single parents and those starting over, companionship becomes a support system, not just a romance. In this phase of life, love means choosing a partner who stands with you through real-world pressures, every day plate, with kids to care for, aging parents, financial responsibilities, and society's prying eyes, having a companion who is there by your side through the thick and thin brings more than just joy; it brings the kind of strength everyone deserves. Carrying all that burden alone is not easy; the right partner is not just a date or a romantic presence. They are the teammate who understands and shares that weight.

The dating journey after 40, one that is often seeking a second chance, brings a different kind of magic.

What was once viewed with suspicion is now beginning to be socially accepted, to the extent that specific apps have been built for people seeking love at a more mature age.

Standard dating apps fall short for people over 40. At this stage, especially for single parents, dating can be very different. It is not just swiping for fun and sparks; the checklist is rewritten, priorities shift, and what truly matters is finding a person who understands that life can throw a curveball at any point; they want maturity, reliability, and compatibility.

38% of daters beyond 40

look for emotional stability over the thrill alone; someone who will patiently listen without rushing to "fix" things, because sometimes you just need to be heard. A partner who doesn't judge their past or understands that, on most days, their child will come before everything. By the time you're 40, romance isn't about big declarations anymore; it's found in small, steady efforts.

Rebound's Founder and CEO, Ravi Mittal, added, "Love for single parents, or daters above 40, is definitely more than just romance. It's an ecosystem of support. Surveys show single parents are often looking for a match who understands that their plans depend on their kids' school schedule and even mood, and they might be extremely thorough during interactions because introducing someone new to a child's life comes with a lot of hope and fear." 3 in 5 daters with kids claim that finding a suitable partner who values maturity and respects their responsibilities is much easier through dating apps for second chances because these platforms tackle the realities of taking a second attempt at love, instead of brushing them under the rug.

U-19 Asia Cup

India maul Malaysia by 315 runs

Abhigyan Kundo's historic unbeaten double ton and Deepesh Devendran's 5/22 set up massive win

DUBAI

ABHIGYAN Kundo's record 209 not out and an excellent return of 5/22 from Deepesh Devendran set up a massive 315-run victory for India against Malaysia in their U-19 Asia Cup match here on Tuesday.

India's margin of win is now their second biggest in terms of runs in Youth ODIs, after a 326-run triumph over Uganda in 2022.

Kundo etched his name in record books with a first-ever double century for any Indian in Youth ODIs, scoring his runs off 125 balls with 17 fours and nine sixes to fire India to a mammoth 408 for seven.

In reply, right-arm medium pacer Devendran ran through the Malaysian middle-order after Kishan Singh and Udhav Mohan struck once each to rock the opposition, and despite a late resistance from Hamzah Panggi (35), Malaysia were bowled out for 93 in 32.1 overs.

It was a perfect outing for the Indian colts who put together a robust batting show, in which the tone was set by Vaibhav Sooryavanshi who notched up a quickfire 50 off 26 balls (5 fours and 3 sixes). While Sooryavanshi could not convert his start into another big score, having scored 171 a few days ago against UAE, India were unperturbed even as they lost Vihaan Malhotra (7) and Ayush Mhatre (14) cheaply.

No 4. Vedant Trivedi teamed up with Kundo as the two added 209 runs for the fourth wicket to consolidate, in which the latter was the dominant of the two with his aggressive stroke play particularly on the leg side.

The 17-year-old Kundo's rotation of the strike was top notch as he collected 55 singles during his innings while hitting 17 fours and nine sixes in his superlative knock.

Kundo's double ton is also only the second instance of a batter at U-19 level crossing the 200-run mark, with South Africa's Jorich Van Schalkwyk's 215 against Zimbabwe earlier this year being the first.

The 18-year-old Trivedi looked set for a triple-figure score but ended up giving a return catch to Jaashwin Krishnamurthy, walking back for 90 of 106 balls (7 fours). Kundo was the aggressor in his 87-run stand for the fifth wicket with Kanishk Chouhan while he brought up his double hundred.

BRIEF SCORES:

India U-19 408/7 in 50 overs (Vaibhav Sooryavanshi 50, Vedant Trivedi 90, Abhigyan Kundo 209 not out; Muhammad Akram 5/89) beat Malaysia 93 in 32.1 overs (Hamzah Panggi 35; Deepesh Devendran 5/22, Udhav Mohan 2/24) by 315 runs.

Asian Youth Para Games: Indian shuttlers win 8 gold

NEW DELHI

INDIAN youngsters delivered a remarkable performance at the Dubai 2025 Asian Youth Para Games, winning 8 gold medals in the Para badminton events. The Indian team proved to be a formidable force, securing an impressive 17 medals – 8 gold, 3 silver, and 6 bronze.

At the core of India's success was Jatin Azad, whose composed and confident performances defined the team's spirit. Azad achieved double gold in the SU5 category; first capturing the men's singles title before returning to the court with Shivam Yadav to win gold in men's doubles. Their partnership, founded on trust and communication, remained strong under the pressure of finals day.

Speaking after his victories, Azad looked beyond Dubai with quiet determination, as he said, "I want to play in all championships, gain more experience and exposure. With more exposure, I will achieve more – and I know I will be selected for the LA28 Paralympics," he said.

India's successful streak was also driven by mental toughness. Harshit Choudhary, another gold medallist, emphasised the mindset that helped the team navigate the most challenging moments of the

IPL 2026 to be held from March 26 to May 31

MUMBAI:

The 19th Indian Premier League will be held from March 26 to May 31 but it remains to be seen if defending champions Royal Challengers Bengaluru's home base gets a game after a deadly stampede halted all big-ticket cricket at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium. As per established norms, the Chinnaswamy should host the tournament opener given the home side, RCB, won the IPL 2025 title but that is unlikely to be clear till the time BCCI comes out with the full-scale schedule.

The venue was witness to chaos and a stampede, which left 11 dead, after RCB's trophy celebrations drew lakhs on the streets, that was well over the state machinery's capacity to handle at a short notice in June this year.

While the venue has received conditional clearance from the Karnataka government, it also needs to meet the necessary safety and security standards following the deaths.

This silver marked Shivani's third medal of the championship, adding to her earlier gold in the 200m backstroke and silver in the 50m backstroke, underlining her dominance in backstroke events.

In another notable performance for Telangana, Sudhiksha Krishna secured the bronze medal in the U-19 girls' 50m freestyle, clocking 28.24 seconds. Karnataka's Shalini R. Dixit won the gold with a timing of 27.75 seconds, while Shubhnoor Kaur of Chandigarh claimed silver in 28.01 seconds.

The championship is being held from December 12 to 17 in New Delhi.

Spotlight on SKY as India eye series win over SA

LUCKNOW:

SHUBMAN Gill's lean patch has been the talking point but an equally "out of runs" skipper Suryakumar Yadav is also under intense scrutiny as India look to find the right balance and seal the five-match series against South Africa in the fourth T20I here on Wednesday.

The third game was an ideal opportunity for Suryakumar to rediscover his touch while India chased a modest 118-run target, but the ease that once made him the top ranked batter in the world was noticeably missing.

Shots that defined his dominance have been producing erratic results and the match in Dharamsala was no different as he fell to his trademark pick-up stroke, highlighting a continued struggle.

But he was defiant when it came to self-assessment. "The thing is, I've been batting beautifully in the nets. I'm trying everything that's in my control. When the runs have to come, they'll definitely come. I'm not out of form, but definitely out of runs," Suryakumar confidently said at the post-match presentation ceremony after India's win in Dharamsala on Sunday.

Modi govt's illegality exposed: Cong on relief to Gandhis

NEW DELHI

THE Congress on Tuesday claimed the "illegality" of the Narendra Modi government and its "politically motivated prosecution stands fully exposed" after a court here refused to take cognisance of the Enforcement Directorate's National Herald money laundering case against Rahul Gandhi, Sonia Gandhi and others.

In a statement, Congress spokesperson Supriya Shrinete said the ED's proceedings against Congress leadership -- Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi -- in the case have been found to be "completely illegal and mala fide" by the court.

"The mala fide and illegality of the Modi government stands fully exposed. The court has ruled that the ED case is without jurisdiction; it has no FIR, without which there is no case. This politically motivated prosecution by the Modi government over the last decade of the principal opposition party stands exposed before the people of India," she said.

"No case of money laundering, no proceeds of crime and no movement of property; all baseless charges that have been a part of a political witch hunt, propaganda, reputation assassination and campaign which stands defeated today," Shrinete said.

She said the Congress party and its leadership are committed to fighting for the truth and for the rights of every Indian. "We cannot, and will not ever be intimidated, because we fight for the truth," she added.

Party general secretary K

C Venugopal said, "Through this judgment, the court has exposed the illegal and mala fide political targeting by the Narendra Modi government."

"From day one, the opposition, especially Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi, has been targeted without any legal basis or wrongdoing. This judgment clearly vindicates our stand," he added.

Refusing to take cognisance of the federal probe agency's money laundering charge against Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi, Sonia Gandhi, and five others in the National Herald case, the court noted that the chargesheet filed is based on a probe into a complaint by a private person and not on an FIR of a predicate offence.

Its cognisance is impermissible in law, the judge said. (PTI)

34 Maoist cadres surrender in Bijapur

RAIPUR/BIJAPUR (CHHATTISGARH)

IN a significant victory for anti-Naxal operations, 34 Maoist cadres, including 7 women, surrendered before senior police and CRPF officials in Bijapur district on Tuesday, carrying a combined bounty of Rs 84 lakh.

The surrendered cadres, primarily from the South Sub-Zonal Bureau, also include members linked to the Dandakaranya Special Zonal Committee (DKSZC), Telangana State Committee, and Andhra-Odisha Border (AOB) Division.

Key figures include a Divisional Committee Member (DVCM) from the Keralapal Area Committee with a Rs 8 lakh bounty, several PLGA (People's Liberation Guerrilla Army) members, Area Committee Members (ACMs), platoon leaders, militia commanders, and frontal organisation office-bearers like DAKMS and CNM presidents.

Disillusioned with Maoist ideology, they pledged allegiance to the Indian Constitution, vowing a peaceful life. Each received Rs 50,000 immediate incentive under the state's rehabilitation policy, Police officials said.

The surrender occurred amid joint efforts by District Reserve Guard (DRG), Bastar Fighters, Special Task Force (STF), CoBRA, and CRPF battalions, influenced by the Chhattisgarh government's "Puna Margam: Rehabilitation to Rejuvenation" campaign—a reintegration drive—and the "Niyad Nellanar" scheme delivering development to remote villages.

Bijapur Superintendent of Police Jitendra Kumar Yadav appealed to the remaining Maoists, "abandon violence without fear. The government's policies ensure a secure, respectable future."

He highlighted family desires for normal lives.

Since January 2024, Bijapur has seen over 824 surrenders (per local claims, aligning with reports of 790+ by late 2025), alongside arrests and encounters, reflecting intensified operations.

Statewide, thousands have surrendered in 2025, weakening Maoist structures in Bastar. Officials credit proactive security, trust-building, and welfare initiatives for transforming fear into dialogue and development in South Bastar.

Rehabilitation processes, including legal formalities and reintegration support, are underway. This marks another step toward Chhattisgarh's goal of lasting peace in Naxal-affected regions.

Goa nightclub fire case Luthra brothers deported, taken into police custody

NEW DELHI

GAURAV Luthra and Saurabh Luthra, co-owners of the Birch by Romeo Lane nightclub in Goa where a massive fire killed 25 people, were deported from Thailand on Tuesday and taken into custody by Delhi and Goa police as soon as they landed in Delhi. The brothers arrived in the Indian capital in an Indigo flight and were immediately handed over to authorities for further legal proceedings, 10 days after a blaze tore through the Birch by Romeo Lane nightclub in Arpora in North Goa.

Gaurav, 44 and Saurabh, 40, will be produced before a Delhi court where the Goa police will seek their transit remand.

A TV reporter tracking the brothers from Bangkok attempted to shoot inside the aircraft, prompting the airlines and accompanying security officials to summon additional force to whisk away the two men.

The Luthra brothers are facing a case of culpable homicide and negligence following the December 6 tragedy, which investigators allege was compounded by the nightclub operating in violation of mandatory fire safety norms. The incident raised serious questions over alleged fire safety violations and lapses by the management. Gaurav and Saurabh fled to Phuket in the early hours of December 7, hours after the fire at their nightclub, prompting the authorities to issue an Interpol

Blue Corner Notice and cancel their passports.

The duo was detained by Thai authorities at Phuket on December 11 following a request from the Indian government which later coordinated with officials in Thailand to deport them under legal treaties between the two nations.

On December 11, a Delhi court rejected the transit anticipatory bail pleas. Additional Sessions Judge Vandana termed the allegations against the brothers "prima facie grave and serious" and severely criticised their "conduct."

The court took note of the police investigation that the brothers had booked tickets to Phuket one hour after the fire, a fact their counsel had initially "concealed" while seeking protection from immediate arrest.

The judge said that leaving immediately after the tragedy was a clear attempt to "evade the legal process".

JAMMU:

SEARCHED for terrorists in Udhampur on Tuesday, a day after a policeman was killed in a gunfight there, a police officer said.

During the encounter on Monday, one terrorist was believed to have been injured, while two policemen suffered minor bullet wounds.

"The operation has been resumed in the area to track down the holed-up terrorists. The cordon has been further strengthened," the officer told PTI.

A joint team of the Special Operations Group (SOG) of police, along with the army and the CRPF, is on the job with sniffer dogs, the officer said.

On Monday, forces got locked in a gunfight with terrorists in Soan village of the Majalta area in Udhampur. The village was raided by the police on a tip-off about the presence of three terrorists, believed to be affiliated with the Pakistan-based Jaish-e-Mohammad (JeM) outfit.

The encounter took place in the besieged village around 6 pm and continued for some time, resulting in injuries to one SOG jawan, Amjad Pathan, son of Bashrat Khan. Pathan, a resident of Salva, Mendhar in Poonch district, later succumbed.

"A very small SOG team engaged the terrorists. Combing of the forest has been impeded due to darkness and treacherous terrain," IGP Jammu Bhim Sen Tutti said in a social media post.

TIRUMALA Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) Trust Board has taken an important decision to improve facilities for devotees by approving the construction of an integrated township near Alipiri in Tirupati. The project will come up on 20 acres and will serve as a base camp to meet the growing accommodation needs of devotees.

The decision was taken at the TTD Board meeting held in Tirumala on Tuesday under the chairmanship of B R Naidu. The board approved town planning proposals and the appointment of an architect. Executive Officer AK Singhal, Additional EO Ch Venkaiah Chowdary, JEO V Veerabrahmam and other members attended the meeting.

Since the site is very close to the Alipiri footpath, it will be convenient for devotees who wish to trek to Tirumala. However, the Institute of Sculpture may be shifted to another location.

TTD chairman B R Naidu said the board approved the construction of a Sri Venkateswara temple at Bandra in Mumbai at an estimated cost of Rs 14.40 crore. It was also decided to rename roads and major junctions in Tirumala after figures associated with Lord Venkateswara, Vaishnava traditions, the Alwars and Annamacharya.

An expert committee has been formed to finalise the names. A separate wing will be created for the protection and conservation of ancient and heritage structures in Tirumala and along the footpaths, with experienced officers to oversee the work.

The board cleared a plan to grow sacred and divine trees over 100 acres at Palamaner to supply wood for temple chariots and flagpoles. An additional Rs 48 crore was sanctioned to strengthen advanced medical facilities at the Sri Padmavathi Children's Heart Centre in Tirupati.

Based on recommendations of the Education Sub-Committee, the board approved the introduction of digital classrooms, CCTV cameras, computers, software and staff in 31 TTD-run educational institutions. A new comprehensive policy for the construction and management of donor cottages will also be introduced.

For Sri Siddheswara Swamy temple at Talakona, Rs 14.10 crore was sanctioned for the second phase of renovation works, in addition to Rs 4 crore approved earlier. Hostel accommodation at Sri Padmavathi Women's Degree College in Tirupati will be expanded by adding 270 seats to the existing strength of 2,100.

The board decided to continue TTD's responsibility for road maintenance, repairs and street lighting in Tirupati. It also resolved to seek government approval to create 18 new Potu Supervisor posts at Srivari Potu. As a welfare measure, the board approved providing midday meals to day scholars of SV Junior College and SPW Junior College, on the lines of the state government's scheme. It also cleared the construction of a pilgrim accommodation complex at the Sri Veer-anjaneya Swamy temple in Kondagattu, Jagtial district.

Minister vows support to beleaguered aquaculture

HANS NEWS SERVICE
VIJAYAWADA

STATING that the aquaculture sector has become a key pillar of Andhra Pradesh's economy, minister for agriculture and fisheries K Atchannaidu said the coalition government is extending full support for the development of aquaculture with the prime objective of increasing farmers' income.

The minister was the chief guest at the oath-taking ceremony of the governing body members of the Andhra Pradesh State Aquaculture Development Authority, held at the fisheries department office at Penamaluru near here on Tuesday.

Addressing the gathering, Atchannaidu said the prevailing conditions in the global market and the tariffs imposed by US President Donald Trump have impacted aquaculture farmers. He added that the state government is taking measures in coordination with the Central government to overcome these challenges.

He stressed the need for extensive promotion of the quality and credibility of Andhra Pradesh shrimp across the country and globally. Chief Minister N. Chandrababu Naidu, he said, is continuously striving to explore new markets, boost exports and ensure remunerative prices for farmers. Emphasising quality consciousness, the Minister said farmers would receive better prices only by maintaining high standards.

THE state government on Tuesday issued orders removing the upper age limit for children for availing Child Care Leave (CCL) by government employees, permitting eligible employees to utilise the leave facility at any time during their service up to retirement.

The finance department issued the orders with immediate effect, extending the benefit to women employees as well as single male employees, including unmarried, widower and divorcee employees, subject to existing eligibility conditions. The revised policy also covers children with disabilities.

As per the orders, Child Care Leave may be availed for child rearing, attending to children's health needs, or caring for them during school or college examinations, illness and other related requirements.

The government recalled that it had initially permitted women employees to avail Child Care Leave for a maximum period of 60 days during their entire service. This entitlement was later enhanced to 180 days, to be availed in a maximum of three spells. Subsequently, the facility was extended to single male employees on similar terms.

In a further revision, the government increased the permissible number of spells for availing the eligible 180 days of Child Care Leave from three to 10 spells during the entire service period.

The government has now formally extended the removal of the upper age limit to both women employees and single male employees, including in cases involving differently-abled children. All other conditions stipulated in the earlier government orders will continue to apply.

Special attention will be given to arrangements at key locations including Pulicat-Nellapattu, BV Palem, Atakanithippa, Irakkam Island, Ubbalamadugu and Periyapalayam. The Collector stressed that the Flamingo Festival should be developed into one of the major tourism events of the state, with all departments working in close coordination.

He also called for wide publicity at the state and national levels to attract more tourists. Plans are to be drawn up for extensive promotion through posters, logos, banners, publicity material and digital display boards. All departments were asked to submit their action plans at the earliest.

District tourism and culture officer M Janardhan Reddy, APTDC EE Subramanyam, tourism officials and event organisers attended the meeting.

It may be recalled that Nelapattu Bird Sanctuary, one of the largest pelicanries in the region, serves as an important breeding and roosting site for both long-distance and local migratory birds. The Flamingo Festival, which began in 2001 as a tourism revenue initiative, has grown into a major attraction. VB-GRAMIN Bill raises fears among rural workers

NARESH NANDAM
ONGOLE

THE Viksit Bharat-Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (VK-GRAMIN) VB-G RAM G Bill which was introduced in Parliament on Monday to replace the two-decade-old Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA), promises increase in workdays from 100 to 125, but masks fundamental changes that could leave rural workers worse off. Experts estimate that states like Andhra Pradesh could lose up to Rs 5,000 crore in Central funding, likely forcing

- Bill promises 125 workdays but replaces the legal right to employment with budget-based allocations, risking funding cuts of up to Rs 5,000 crore for states like Andhra Pradesh
- Cost burden shifts to states, which must fund 40% of expenses and bear any excess spending, while a clause allows suspension of work for 60 days during peak farm seasons.
- Mandatory tech-heavy systems and Centrally approved plans may exclude vulnerable workers and weaken scheme's role as a flexible safety net during rural distress them to cap work even when villagers need it.

The most significant shift transforms employment from a legal right into a budget-controlled programme. Under der MGNREGA, households could demand work and the government was legally bound to provide it within 15 days or pay unemployment allowance.

The new law replaces this with 'normative allocation' based on fixed budgets decided by the Central government for each state. Work will now depend on budget ceilings rather than worker demand.

Financial burden shifts dramatically to states, which must now contribute 40 per cent of costs (10 per cent for northeastern states).

Any spending beyond the allocated ceiling is borne entirely by state budgets. A controversial provision allows states to suspend all scheme work for 60 days during peak agricultural seasons.

For landless labourers who depend on the programme when farm work is scarce or exploitative, this legally closes a crucial safety net precisely when income is most needed.

Technology requirements compound access barriers. Mandatory biometric attendance, GPS tracking and app-based systems may exclude elderly workers, those with poor connectivity or worn fingerprints, and people lacking proper documentation.

All work must now come from pre-approved Viksit Gram Panchayat Plans integrated with national infrastructure systems. This removes MGNREGA's flexibility for urgent, simple employment during distress, favouring large infrastructure projects requiring multi-scheme coordination.

Chakradhar Buddha, coordinator for LibTech India, an NGO, observed that many provisions of the VB-GRAMIN Act are unfair. He said that the employment system shifts from a demand-driven legal entitlement with relatively simple ground-level processes to a Centrally-controlled, technology-heavy scheme, where budget constraints and digital compliance may override workers' survival needs. He said that Andhra Pradesh used to receive feedback and suggestions on best practices for the MGNREGA through APNA (Andhra Pradesh NGOs Alliance).

He advised the state, which played a key role in the design and implementation of the MGNREGA, to retake the lead and restart consultations with stakeholders and the NGOs network to propose actionable changes that help workers from all regions receive work when they really need it and wages on time.

Producer Raj Kandukuri wishes for success of 'Jinn', releasing on Dec 19

Produced by Nikhil M. Gowda under the banners of Sadalamma Film Productions and Bilva Studios, 'Jinn' is directed by Chinmay Ram. The film features Amit Rao, Parvez Simba, Prakash Tuminad, Ravi Bhat, and Sangeetha in key roles. The movie is set for a grand release on December 19. Ahead of its release, a trailer launch event was held on Monday, attended by chief guests Raj Kandukuri, Veerabhadra Chowdary, and Sohel.

The trailer raises intriguing questions: What is the mystery behind the haunted lake? What is the secret hidden inside the college? It depicts four youngsters trapped by spirits, unable to escape from a college building, with the entry of a Jinn adding to the suspense. The makers manage to scare the audience right from the trailer itself. The visuals and background score are highly engaging and captivating.

After the trailer launch, the speakers shared their thoughts:

Raj Kandukuri said:

"Jinn" is a very interesting title. There are two kinds of Jinn—good Jinn and bad Jinn. I feel horror films carry comparatively less risk. If fear is presented effectively, audiences always support horror films."

Veerabhadram Chowdary said:

"I really liked the trailer of 'Jinn'. Horror films are tasting success these days. Director Chinmay Ram has made this film very well. 'Jinn' will surely achieve good success."

Sohel said:

Marella Manikantha said:

"Thanks to everyone who attended our 'Jinn' event. This is a film audience have never seen before. Producer Nikhil garu made it on a grand scale, and director Chinmay Ram has executed it brilliantly."

'Dhandoraa' Is a Wonderful Film That Combines All Kinds of Commercial Elements - Actor Sivaji

The film 'Dhandoraa' stars the iconic actor Sivaji in the lead role. Ravindra Banerjee Muppaneni, head of Loukya Entertainment—who has garnered attention for producing acclaimed films like 'Color Photo' and 'Bedurulanka 2012'—has produced 'Dhandoraa'. Along with Sivaji, actors Navadeep, Nandu, Ravi Krishna, Manika Chikkala, Mounika Reddy, Bindu Madhavi, Radhya, Aditi Bhavaraju, and others play important roles in the film. Directed by Muralikanth, the movie is set for a grand release on December 25. As part of the promotions, actor Sivaji interacted with the media. Here are some key excerpts from his interaction:

Have you heard the story of 'Dhandoraa' before 'Court'?

I first heard the story of 'Dhandoraa'. My role in it is very new. The makers of 'Dhandoraa' had given an advance earlier, but there was a delay in production. So 'Court' was released first.

What is your role going to be like in 'Dhandoraa'?

My role in 'Dhandoraa' will be different. Whether it is good or bad is something the audience will decide. They may not fully understand it immediately; after watching the film, the audience will have to tell me about my role.

Can 'Dhandoraa' be considered a completely message-based film?

'Dhandoraa' is not a completely message-oriented film. It is a film made by combining all kinds of commercial elements.

Since it comes after 'Court', there are expectations on 'Dhandoraa'. Will your role live up to them?

The response to my role as Mangapati in 'Court' is similar to the response I expect for my role in 'Dhandoraa'. Such roles come only if you are very lucky as an actor. I got a character with many different shades in this film.

Prostitutes were portrayed in films like 'Vedam' and 'Kancheepuramlo'. How are they portrayed in this film?

Bindu Madhavi's character in 'Dhandoraa' has been portrayed in a very classy manner. Everyone will connect with the film and its characters.

Do you feel new directors are using you more?

I mostly work with new directors. Our filmmakers are very calculative. Even though we have a lot of potential actors, they often bring actors from other languages.

Did you enjoy films like 'Missamma'? Do you enjoy films like 'Court' and 'Dhandoraa'?

I enjoyed all kinds of films such as 'Missamma', 'Shailaja Krishnamurthy', and 'Adirindayya Chandram'. I have always had confidence in myself as an actor. I can play all kinds of roles, from comedy to negative shades. Now, I feel the time has come for me.

TRAILER OF '45: THE MOVIE' UNVEILED

Popular music director Arjun Janya takes the director's chair for the first time with the much-awaited flick '45: The Movie', a project that promises scale, substance, and star power in equal measure. The film unites three formidable forces of Kannada cinema—Karunada Chakravarthy Shiva Rajkumar, Real Star Upendra, and the versatile Raj B Shetty—setting the stage for a cinematic collision unlike any other. Produced by Uma Ramesh Reddy and M. Ramesh Reddy under the Suraj Productions banner, '45: The Movie' has been crafted with a clear ambition to stand apart. From its striking promotional material to the intriguing snippets unveiled so far, the film has steadily built an air of mystery that has kept audiences talking. With anticipation peaking, the makers have now unveiled the theatrical trailer.

The opening frames introduce a powerful visual idea—a date of birth, a date of death, and the fleeting stretch between them. This stark imagery becomes the film's thematic backbone, suggesting that existence is not just about living, but about being accountable for every choice made within that narrow window of time. The trailer hints at a belief system where moral reckoning does not stop with death, giving the film an almost metaphysical undertone.

Bringing together Shiva Rajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty, '45: The Movie' blends contrasting personas into this moral framework. Upendra's resonant voiceover lends philosophical gravity, framing the narrative as a reflection on cause and consequence. Raj B Shetty appears rooted and vulnerable, representing the ordinary individual caught in forces larger than himself. Shiva Rajkumar's presence, particularly his unexpected appearance in a red Bharatanatyam costume, introduces a striking sense of duality and transformation.

The cinematography by Satya Hegde stands out, while Arjun Janya's pulsating score amplifies the experience. The production values are exceptional, and the film features high-intensity action sequences choreographed by leading stunt masters Dr K Ravi Verma, Jolly Bastian, and Differnet Danny Chetan D'Souza. Dialogues are written by Anil Kumar, and editing is handled by K M Prakash.

With the trailer setting the bar high, '45: The Movie' is gearing up for a grand release in five languages on January 1, ushering in the New Year with a bang.

'Missterious' climax will be memorable - Director Mahi Komati Reddy

The movie 'Missterious' stars Rohit as the hero and Abid Bhushan in a police role, alongside actresses Riya Kapoor and Meghna Rajputh. Directed by Mahi Komati Reddy and produced by Jay Vallandas under the Ashlee Creations banner, the film is gearing up for a grand worldwide theatrical release on the 19th of this month. On this occasion, director Mahi Komati Reddy shared several key highlights of the movie in an interview today.

Director Mahi Komati Reddy said in the interview:

"Our film, 'Missterious', is not a regular-format movie like others; we have crafted it around a distinct point. The film includes elements of crime, love, and crush, along with strong thrilling aspects. The audience will definitely be entertained, as such thrilling elements have not been shown in any film so far. The suspense surrounding who the killer is will continue until the very end of the film. The climax episode will be a blend of suspense and thrill, featuring an unexpected twist that no one can predict. After the movie ends, everyone will surely be talking about that climax."

When it comes to thriller movies, songs are not usually highly expected. However, we have included three songs based on the story's requirements, and all of them fit perfectly. They add a good kick and ensure the audience does not feel like they are only watching a crime film. Our music director, M.L. Raja, has provided chartbuster music for these songs.

Overall, 'Missterious' is a mix of crime, crush, love, thrill, suspense, songs, and fight scenes. The audience will come to the theatre, enjoy all these elements, and leave entertained. Especially, the climax episode will be unforgettable.

So far, the promotional content for 'Missterious' has received very good feedback. We produced the film wonderfully with the support of our friend and producer, Jay Vallandas. Initially, we planned to release the movie on the 12th of this month, but due to the release of Akhanda 2, we decided to bring it to audiences a week later, on the 19th."
