Stung by rising costs, gig workers seek better wages from platforms

THE Gig and Platform workers urged the state government to review payment rates offered by food delivery and quick-commerce platforms, including Zomato, Swiggy, Zepto and Blinkit. The worker has called for fair and sustainable earnings for delivery workers amid rising operating costs and unstable incomes.

The Telangana Gig and Platform Workers Union (TGPWU) appealed to Minister Vivek Venkatswamy and Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy to intervene and examine the payment structures followed by these platforms.

The union said delivery workers are facing increasing financial pressure due to low payouts, rising fuel prices, vehicle maintenance expenses and fluctuating order volumes.

The union has demanded a payment system that takes into account the time, distance and expenses involved in completing each delivery. It has also called for greater transparency in the way platforms calculate delivery payments, incentives, penalties and deductions.

TGPWU Founder President Shaik Salauddin said that the delivery workers in Hyderabad have also reported a decline in daily earnings as operating costs increase.

In May 2026, workers raised the issue that their daily income had fallen from around Rs 800 to Rs 550-Rs 600 after accounting for rising fuel and other expenses. Workers also said that payments for individual orders could be as low as Rs 11 – Rs 20.

According to the union, delivery workers bear several work-related expenses themselves, including fuel, vehicle maintenance, insurance, mobile data charges and loan or EMI payments. Unlike conventional employees, gig workers' earnings can also vary depending on order availability, incentives and changes in platform policies.

CBI cracks pharma-CGHS bribery nexus

- Bribery alleged in medicine procurement
- Drugs allegedly procured at inflated rates
- Government staff accused of taking bribes
- Private firms allegedly colluded with officials
- Suspicious financial transfers detected
- Bills cleared without physical verification
- Procurement irregularities flagged in audit
- Medical shops allegedly acted as intermediaries
- Probe underway to identify more accused

Mouli Mareedu
Hyderabad

THE Central Bureau of Investigation registered criminal cases against multiple pharmaceutical firms, their management representatives, and Central Government Health Scheme employees for allegedly accepting bribes to procure medicines at inflated rates.

Cases were booked against Lorven Pharma and Surgicals, its proprietor, representative Madupaduga Ramanaiah, assistant manager E Venu Gopal, New SS Medical and General Stores, its representative T Chiranjeevi, Telukupalli Bharani, former Bengaluru CGHS employee M Saravanan, former Kothapet CGHS senior pharmacist T YLN Murthy, Secunderabad CGHS senior health administrator Ponnala Mahesh, and former CGHS pharmacist S Krishna Murthy.

The Anti-Corruption Branch of the investigating agency revealed that CGHS authorities issued procurement orders for various essential medicines, including Antioxidants, Sacubitril 24 mg with Valsartan 26 mg, Sitagliptin 50 mg, and Metformin 500 mg. Officials T YLN Murthy and S Krishna Murthy were tasked with monitoring medicine supplies from external vendors. However, investigating officers established that the accused government personnel colluded with private pharmaceutical management and sales representatives by accepting bribes, issuing supply quotations, and procuring drugs at maximum government-fixed rates while clearing pending bills without required physical verification.

Simultaneously, the agency uncovered suspicious financial transactions involving substantial monetary transfers between public servants and private pharmaceutical staff. Preliminary audit findings highlighted widespread irregularities during official procurement from private suppliers, confirming that selected medical shops acted as financial intermediaries to facilitate illicit payments between pharmaceutical executives and government employees. Coordinated investigations remain underway to uncover the complete extent of the bribery network and identify additional officials involved in the medical procurement scam.

Cong ignored BCs in MLC polls, alleges Talasani

Hans News Service
Hyderabad

BRSLP deputy leader Talasani Srinivas Yadav on Wednesday questioned the ruling party whether there were no eligible Backward Classes leaders to contest Legislative Council elections under the Graduates quota. Addressing a press conference, Srinivas Yadav alleged that Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy was actively misleading Backward Classes.

He pointed out that former Chief Ministers NT Rama Rao, N Chandrababu Naidu, YS Rajasekhara Reddy, and K Chandrashekar Rao previously passed Assembly resolutions seeking enhanced reservations. Srinivas Yadav emphasised that despite strong community movements, Congress allocated both seats to upper castes, asking whether Backward Classes had not voted for Congress or lacked qualified graduates. Stating that candidate selection rested entirely in administration hands, he asserted voters must teach Congress a harsh lesson.

Echoing similar sentiments, MLC Dasoju Sravan stated that Congress leader Rahul Gandhi preached moral values during his Bharat Jodo Yatra while party leadership in Telangana stifles community voices.

Sravan alleged Congress severely compromised Backward Classes self-respect, pointing out that individuals like Chanagani Dayakar were denied opportunities and treated poorly.

HMWSSB chief Ashok Reddy orders advance summer water contingency plan

Hans News Service
Hyderabad

HYDERABAD Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board Managing Director K Ashok Reddy directed officials on Wednesday to prepare a comprehensive contingency plan well in advance to ensure uninterrupted drinking water supply during summer. Reviewing preparedness, Singur-Manjeera emergency measures, borewells, filling stations, network connectivity, bulk supply, and wastewater reuse at Khairatabad headquarters, Ashok Reddy instructed officials to formulate area-wise distribution strategies based on demand assessments.

He urged officers to identify localities reliant on Singur and Manjeera supplies and establish alternative distribution routes, inspecting pipeline linkages in high-demand zones. Emphasizing wastage control, he called for public awareness campaigns on responsible consumption. Ashok Reddy ordered appointing a lineman-in-charge for every functional power borewell within 15 days alongside creating a centralized online tracking database. Officials must prioritize repairing non-functional borewells in water-scarce areas and expand treated-water filling points across sewage treatment plants.

Furthermore, the Managing Director mandated a 15-day survey mapping private sewage treatment plants in gated communities and commercial complexes to detail capacity and quality. He also instructed officials to evaluate how Singur-Manjeera contingency measures impact industrial consumers, ensuring alternative arrangements are arranged promptly.

Aerobic composters, biogas plants planned in Malkajgiri

Hans News Service
Hyderabad

MALKAJGIRI Municipal Corporation Commissioner T Vinay Krishna Reddy reviewed the implementation of projects being undertaken under SBMU 2.0 and the progress of pending works during a review meeting on the progress of SBMU 2.0 projects within the Malkajgiri Municipal Corporation limits on Wednesday.

The officers were instructed to continuously monitor the implementation of projects at the field level, expedite pending works and ensure that all works are started and completed within the specified timeframe. The Commissioner ordered the establishment of aerobic composters in all gated communities under the MMC to process wet waste scientifically at source. He suggested reducing the transportation burden by processing waste at the source and encouraging the conversion of organic waste into compost.

The Commissioner directed officials to identify and register bulk waste generators under the MMC and take steps to establish biogas plants on their premises so that the wet waste generated by them can be effectively utilised.

He suggested linking the remaining coconut shell traders under the MMC with coir industries. He said a proper collection, transportation and linkage system should be created to ensure that coconut shells are not discarded carelessly but are instead utilised in coir industries.

The Commissioner advised officials to involve women members of self-help groups in converting flower waste into value-added products.

He instructed officials to take steps to scientifically process flower waste and provide training in making eco-friendly products such as dhoop sticks and incense sticks. He said the programme should be designed to provide skill development and employment opportunities to women self-help group members alongside flower waste management.

BJP MLA seeks Governor's intervention on tribal issues

HYDERABAD: BJLP Deputy Floor Leader and Adilabad MLA Payal Shankar led a delegation of tribal families to Lok Bhavan on Wednesday and met Governor Shiv Pratap Shukla, submitting a petition seeking resolution of their issues.

He brought to the Governor's notice that around 500 tribal families have been living in Komuram Bheem Colony in Survey No. 72 of Battisavargam village in Mavala mandal for nearly 30 years, but have not been granted house pattas or recognised house-site rights.

Due to the lack of recognised rights, the families are facing difficulties in accessing basic facilities and government welfare schemes, besides electricity and safe drinking water. He requested the Governor to order a thorough field-level inquiry and direct the officials to issue house plots to eligible families as per the rules.

The MLA explained the problems faced by the tribal families in detail. The Governor assured the delegation that the issue would be brought to the State government's attention and efforts would be made to resolve it.

The tribal families, along with MLA Payal Shankar, felicitated the Governor as per their tradition and expressed their gratitude.

Later, speaking to the media, Payal Shankar said he had raised the problems of the tribal families several times in the Assembly, but the government had failed to take action.

"If the problem is not resolved within a month, we will hold a dharna in front of the Secretariat along with 2,000 families living there," he warned.

RTC buses skip stop, students hit the road

Saibaba Nagar students demand safer and more frequent services

MM Farooqui
Hyderabad

SCHOOL students on Wednesday staged a dharna at Saibaba Nagar in Quthbullapur, in the jurisdiction of Suraram Police Station, protesting against RTC buses allegedly failing to stop at the designated bus stop. The protest caused traffic disruption as students sat on the road and blocked RTC buses. At several points, students reportedly stood in front of buses that passed the bus stop without stopping, demanding that the services halt at the designated stop.

The students said they had already submitted representations to the depot manager highlighting the difficulties faced by students, employees and elderly passengers due to buses not stopping at Saibaba Nagar. However, they alleged that no action had been taken so far.

The shortage of buses on the route has also forced commuters to travel in overcrowded buses. Students said hanging from footboards has become a common sight, with even girl students facing difficulties while travelling during peak hours.

"The IT sector has its own pick-and-drop facilities for employees, while students are forced to travel in overcrowded RTC buses due to the low frequency of services in the city and its outskirts," a protesting student said.

The students alleged that although the corporation operates limited services on several stretches in Quthbullapur, additional facilities are being provided for employees working in the IT sector. They urged the RTC authorities to increase the frequency of buses and introduce additional mini-buses for students during peak hours.

"We have already brought the issue to the notice of the depot manager, but there has been no response. At least additional mini-buses should be operated during peak hours so that students can travel safely," a student said. The agitation led to severe traffic snarls in the area, inconveniencing motorists and other commuters. The students urged RTC authorities to address the issue at the earliest and ensure that buses stop at the Saibaba Nagar bus stop.
